MEET CALVIN WANDLER...

Techstreet: How long have you worked with Techstreet?

Calvin: I started working with Techstreet in 2019 when I was tasked with managing and administering a multitude of codes and standards to various users within 5 different divisions of the company. The Techstreet platform is an effective tool that enables me to manage and administer our codes and standards easily and efficiently.

Take a peek into the life of super user Calvin Wandler and how he leverages Techstreet Enterprise

"...an effective tool that enables me to manage and administer our codes and standards easily and efficiently."

Techstreet: Why do you choose to work with Techstreet?

Calvin: As a QHSE Manager and Certified Welding Inspector, codes and standards are the cornerstone of what I do. Having the latest version of these documents available when needed is critical to my work and the advanced search capabilities make it easy to efficiently find the information you're looking for.

"Techstreet has been able to add documents to my subscription within a few minutes."

Techstreet: What's your favorite part about working with us?

Calvin: Without question, it's the relationship I've formed with my Techstreet account manager. Techstreet truly cares about their client's needs and demonstrates this through their exceptional customer service. In certain situations when I've requested, Techstreet has been able to add documents to my subscription within a few minutes. I'm confident in performing my duties knowing that Techstreet has my back!

Techstreet: How has Techstreet Enterprise positively improved your experience as an administrator and key conduit for standards use and access at your organization?

Calvin: When I was initially tasked with this project in 2019, no one wanted to touch it. The different requirements from each division included 7 publishers and the sheer number of documents and users made this seem like a difficult and time-consuming task. Techstreet's amazing subscription platform requires very little time and effort to administer, and my colleagues notice and appreciate the efficiency. The accessibility of the documents is like no other, and everyone is extremely happy to have this platform available to use.

Techstreet: What's your best #SuperUser tip for other Techstreet Enterprise users out there?

Calvin: I always encourage users to create lists. Creating lists enables me to organize documents specific to a project or division. I also use Techstreet's automatic updates to keep my External Document Index up to date.

3 THINGS CALVIN LOOKS FOR IN A STANDARDS PROVIDER

Find out about Calvin's three key things he values in a standards provider and what Techstreet brings to the table.

COST

"Cost is always a major factor and my Techstreet codes and standards subscription costs substantially less than their closest competitor. The Techstreet platform allows for the greatest accessibility among providers. Try locking in your subscription for a period to increase your savings even more."

ACCESSIBILITY

"Each user has their own licensed copy that can be printed, downloaded, used online, and accessed on different devices. There is no more waiting or sharing, say goodbye to single user PDFs!"

CUSTOMER SERVICE

"Techstreet's customer service is second to none and I always look forward to working with my account manager! Kudos to Techstreet for their first class 5-star customer service!"

LISTS

Techstreet Enterprise allows you to create custom lists of documents by project or department within your subscription. With the lists feature, you can easily access and share lists among team members.

The screenshot displays the Techstreet Enterprise interface. On the left, the 'Create New List' page is visible, featuring sections for 'My Lists', 'Group Lists', 'Subscribed Lists', and 'Public Lists'. The 'List' page on the right shows a table of documents with columns for 'COPY TO LIST', 'DOCUMENT', 'PUBLICATION DATE', and 'DELETE'. ## ALL ABOUT CALVIN

Calvin grew up in St. Albert and currently lives in south Edmonton in Alberta, Canada. As mentioned before, he works in the energy sector.

When it comes to time management, Calvin is a pro. He spends his weekdays working and taking care of the more mundane, day-to-day tasks to maximize the time he has for his hobbies on the weekends.

On the weekends? You can catch him spending as much time in nature as possible. He enjoys golfing, hiking, cycling, downhill skiing, and barbecuing.

"You'll find me up early on the golf course getting a round in before noon or perhaps going away for the weekend to do some skiing or hiking at one of the beautiful nature-preserves or national parks in the area."

Astronomy is also a passion of his and one of the reasons Bay of Fundy is at the top of his travel bucket list.

"It would be awesome to see and experience the gravitational effect the moon has on the earth. To walk out and explore the tidal floor, getting chased back by the incoming tide would be an amazing experience!"
